Rutgers University

FACULTY POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

Position: Assistant or Associate Professor – Energy Economics

This position is part of Rutgers’ Energy Research Initiative which is designed to integrate Rutgers’ expertise in science, engineering, economics, and policy while putting it at the forefront of alternative energy research. The university is hiring a cluster of ten new faculty members across multiple disciplines to achieve this goal.

Appointment: Tenure-track, teaching/research position.

Qualifications: (1) PhD in Economics, Resource Economics, Agricultural Economics, or related field; (2) scholarly excellence in energy economics and policy research relevant to public decision-making on sustainable energy; (3) familiarity with energy policy and related environmental and climate change issues of the local and global level; (4) familiarity with bio-energy is desirable; and (5) an interest in and ability to teach undergraduate and graduate students.

Duties and Responsibilities:

Develop a world class research program in energy economics.
Collaborate in multidisciplinary research and teaching with Rutgers’ biological and environmental scientists.
Build a research program that enhances the university’s scholarly reputation through publications in top journals and obtaining competitive grants.
Serve on the board of the Rutgers Energy Institute.
Teach courses in resource economics and develop new courses in energy economics.
Supervise M.S. and undergraduate students regarding curriculum requirements and independent study.

Salary/Benefits:
Salary will be competitive and commensurable with qualifications. TIAA/CREF program, vacation, life, medical, and disability insurance programs are also included.

Application Procedures: Interested persons should submit a letter of application, vita, and transcripts, and have letters of recommendation sent directly by three (3) references. The deadline for applications is February 15, 2010, or until a suitable candidate is found. Nominations are also invited. Position is expected to be filled by September 1, 2010, pending university approval. Applications should be sent to:

Edwin Robinson – Department Administrator
Agricultural, Food and Resource Economics
Rutgers University
55 Dudley Road, Room 109
New Brunswick, NJ 08901-8520
Tel: 732-932-9155 x200
erobinson@AESOP.Rutgers.edu

Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.
Position availability subject to University approval.