Re: ANNOUNCEMENT OF RECRUITMENT IN ECONOMETRICS

The Department of Economics at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee is recruiting for a faculty member specializing in econometrics at the rank of Assistant, Associate or Full Professor in the field of Econometrics. We just received budget authorization, so our JOE ad will appear for the first time in the December 1 edition. The basic information is below:

The Department of Economics at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee seeks outstanding applicants for a professor position (rank open) beginning August, 2010. Responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate teaching and supervision of dissertation research in the field of time series, panel data and discrete econometric models. The department seeks candidates with the Ph.D. (or evidence of imminent completion) and a commitment to excellence in research leading to publication in nationally and internationally recognized journals, as well as to collegial service and excellence in teaching.

Application deadline is December 15, 2009. Applicants should submit online - www.jobs.uwm.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=51172 - their vita, research papers (or portion of dissertation) and, if available, evidence of teaching performance. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be sent directly to Professor William Holahan. As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee promotes excellence through diversity and encourages all qualified individuals to apply. The names of those applicants who have not requested that their identities be withheld and the names of all finalists will be released upon request.
